Personal Profile

Highly motivated, conscientious, hardworking, and keen to learn. Good team working and organizational qualities through various projects within both academic and non-academic environments world wide. Excellent knowledge of dealing with whatever comes along and working where ever on this beautiful blue planet.

At our first day at the University our Prof. said: "Gentlemen, what you have to memorise and never forget is, that an Engineer you can drop in the middle of the desert and he will always find water!"

I never forgot and I know that there is always a solution for everything. You just have to find it. There more you practise the easier it gets.
